

Santa's Evil Twin

8 0 1

Chapter 1 by Jonah

There are many secrets in this world today, as well as good and evil. Which reminds me that there is a secret I would like to tell you about. It is about me, Santa Clause. I'll tell you the story that involves this secret. So it started in my cave in the side of a mountain on an island. Well, it started out as a cave. But then the mouth of the cave caved in, so my elves and I took it as an opportunity. We turned it into a defense system and a vestibule. Now it is a great place. It's even got a grand room, which I call The Grand Room. It has rows and rows of columns in a circular spiral that leads all the way up to the very top of the mountain. I have to keep this all a secret or else my elves and I wouldn't be able to make all the presents.

Anyway, on with the story: It was a normal day at The Cave (thats what I call the "cave" that my headquarters is in). All systems were up and running and the elves were working. I find elves very mysterious, but I seem to be the only one who thinks so. Everything was normal, or so it seemed. But out of nowhere the lights went out. When the back up power started to kick in, I said to no one in particular, "I sure am glad I installed that back up power." I went over to my computer to see what the cause was but all the surveillance systems were dead and so was everything else. Then I noticed that most of my elves were gone. "There could be only one person that could have done this, my evil twin brother, Bubbles" I thought to myself. I yelled out, "Bubbles, come out, come out wherever you are." I then whispered to my remaining elves "Activate plan 37598". Plan 37598 is when the elves grab their garden gnomes guns - guns that shoot garden gnomes (very useful). So they did, but incorrectly, and actually in a better way. There had been some gossip about an attack and so, many of my elves had trained to defend me from Bubble's clutches.

Then I realized why the elves had grabbed ninja swords. Because all of a sudden the elves that were missing started fighting with the elves that remained. Next, Bubbles came down from the top row of columns by bouncing on a bubble. When he got down next to me, his bubble popped in a very weird way. "You're lucky that I have something very special planned for you" he said. And then he laughed. Oh, he laughed. He laughed and laughed. He laughed until the cows came home. And by that time, the elves that remained were all in bubbles. While in their bubbles, they snacked on the cereal in their pockets. Elves are always hungry. Then, like lightening, Bubbles stopped laughing and whipped out his bubble gun. Before I knew it, I was in a bubble. Out the door we went. My twin and I both had trouble fitting through the door together. "Cursed door" he muttered to himself. We went around the mountain and on the other side there was another "cave" that was exactly like "The Cave"! Then we went inside "The Cave 2," (Bubbles' cave). We also had trouble getting through the door, my brother and I. The inside was the exact same too! Except with hologram elves mimicking the exact movements of my escaped elves back in "The Cave".

"Cursed team. They always miss something," Bubbles muttered. "Send more minions to the other side! There are still escaped elves!" Off his elves went. "Must be other elves that he's captured from other places and other secrets" I think to myself. He turns to my elves and I, with a very commanding look on his face. He smiled and said in a really mimicking way, "This is how I've kept an eye on you." He pointed to the holograms all around us in the room. "So you've been using holograms to watch us this whole time to perfectly plan your attack! Ingenious!"

"Well, thank you very much, Dear Santa" Bubbles said to me. "Now to your hotel rooms" he said in a very sarcastic voice and gestured to a very, very long row of cells, like mine except these are much, much darker. (I don't know why I installed those in "The Cave" anyway.)

While I am locked in my cell, a bubble cell, Bubbles begins to pace back and forth. Suddenly, he turned to me and said, "I'm just bored. Now what?"

"What do you mean" I asked him.

"Well, I thought it would be harder capturing you, but now that I've got you... I'm just bored. I just wanted someone to notice me."

"Well, I can't be seen, or I'll have kids flooding my doors. Neither of us can be seen, or we'll both

"Can I get out of this bubble first" I asked. "And my elves too?"

"Oops, sorry." Bubbles said and pushes a big shiny blue button releasing us from our bubble cells. I walked over to the big shiny red button and pushed it with all my might. Three-foot loud speakers popped out of the wall every five feet and blared WARNING! WARNING! SELF-DESTRUCT SEQUENCE HAS BEEN ACTIVATED! ONE MINUTE UNTIL SELF-DESTRUCT. Enjoy your flight.

My sled, filled with all of my elves and already hooked to my reindeer, already fed, lifted out of the ground right beneath me. Another sled lifted out of the ground next to it made completely from bubbles, filled with all the technology from both caves, even two forty-foot TVs. We hopped into our individual sleds and we rode off to what we thought was a deserted island to set up our new base, with our old mountain bases exploding behind us.
